The Awards

The Healthcare Design Awards seek to acknowledge the contribution made by designers, architects and the owners of care homes, hospitals and other care schemes to the well-being and quality of life for those in their care.

Whilst architectural standards and innovation are key factors, the overriding test for any project has to be the degree to which it has recognised the needs and desires of the residents and incorporated these into the final design.

The awards also recognise the important contribution made by the owners of all types of care facility - irrespective of size or category of care. The judges will be looking to reward quality of care, achieved through quality of design, rather than design alone.

The Categories

Entries are invited in respect of new build, extensions and redevelopment of

-  Care homes for the elderly
-  Care homes for those with mental illness or learning disabilities
-  Extra care/assisted living/care villages
-  Hospitals/clinics/secure units
-  Homes or houses for those with sensory impairment
-  Sheltered housing, close care projects and other types of care facility

The Prizes

The top three entrants nominated in each category will be invited to attend a gala presentation luncheon in London as the guests of the award sponsors.

The finalists in each category will receive a framed certificate to commemorate their achievement and £500 for their chosen charity. The winners of each category will also receive a specially commissioned award for display within the winning home.

As well as being featured in 'Healthcare Business' magazine, the nominated homes and those associated with them will undoubtedly enjoy other marketing opportunities arising from their success.

The Judges

The panel of judges will include experienced healthcare valuers, architects, developers, lenders and care operators. The entries will be judged initially on the entry forms and supporting documentation, with the shortlisted homes in each category being visited to decide on the winners.

The Rules

The entry must be in the name of the person, persons or company in whose name the home is registered.

Where a designer or architect has been employed, their consent must be obtained before submitting an entry.

Homes shortlisted for the Awards will be expected to allow members of the judging panel to visit and inspect the home by prior arrangement and to meet with staff and residents as part of the judging process.

Whilst information accompanying the submissions will be kept in the strictest confidence, entrants agree that a summary of the project, to include photographs and the name of the home and its owners, may be published by Pinders, Healthcare Business magazine and/or any associated sponsors.

Any material submitted by entrants will be at their own risk and will only be returned if specifically requested.

The decisions of the judges are final and no discussion or correspondence will be entered into in this regard.
